

Ngozi N. Ohi
PharmD
Author Media Kit

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr. Ngozi (pronounced en-Goh-zee) M. Obi is an American author of Nigerian descent whose love for writing has evolved into three published novels to date.

Her journey as a writer began in response to her search for a genre of easy to read books with an inspirational message that weren't preachy. She also found that delving into writing served as an escape and a way to deal with her late mother's illness and subsequent passing. It allowed her to tap into her vivid imagination and create tangible characters that most people can relate to.

Her first novel, Love's Destiny, was published in 2009. It follows the main character, Naeerah, in a tale of love lost and found. Her second novel, When Dreams and Visions Collide, was published in 2010. It follows Fern and her friends in a tale of fulfilling dreams against all odds. Her third novel, Love's Legacy, was published in 2016 and continues the quest of true love in a riveting sequel to her debut novel. She's currently working on several other novels which will be published at a future date. All of her novels are available through most online booksellers and can be accessed through the store section of her website.

Ngozi finds inspiration for her novels from the basic things in life and her books aim to inspire adults of all ages, especially young women. A central theme to some of her books is her personal testimony and commitment to remain a virgin until marriage. A message she feels is necessary in a world where there's constant bombardment and pressure to become part of its sex crazed culture. Most people testify to being delivered from their involvement in this culture but she attests to God's keeping power! It proves that people don't necessarily have to put themselves through this type of mess in order to have a message. God can keep you from the mess and the effects of it. She hopes this message will be a light in a world where lines of moral absolutes have become completely blurred.

Dr. Obi also practices as a pharmacist in the state of Virginia, where she serves the community by helping save lives through medical outcomes intervention. Her role as a Pharmacist is one she takes very seriously and uses it frequently to educate the community on the importance of being present and owning a role in one's personal health care. She hopes to expand this role through speaking engagements.

In her spare time, when she's not busy writing books or serving the community through pharmacy practice, she enjoys going to the spa, cooking (frequently experimenting with different recipes), Zumba, shopping and reading.